Major. H. E. Drake Brockman I. M. S.

Senior Surgeon & Sanitary Commissioner

with the Government of Mysore

Bangalore

Respected Sir,

I most humbly and respectfully beg to bring the following to your kind consideration and favourable disposal.

I am the eldest of the six children left behind as orphans by our father, the Late Mr. V. Palaya Pandu 1st Class Hospital Assistant Balengere Mysore. He, as you know, died of plague in August last and left myself and my younger brothers and sisters entirely helpless. What was left by him for our maintenance was very scanty and our circumstances are now driven to a very cold extremity. When our father died, we were entirely plunged in hopelessness and sorrow; we could not find any source of consolation and help. However we were fortunate enough in entertaining some hope of meeting help at the benevolent hands of our father's revered master, to whom I am now writing this petition.

Indeed, we were right in doing so, because no sooner did we intimate our misfortune to the kind hearted gentleman than we received from him a sympathetic letter of condolence and assurance of all possible help. We then submitted a memorial to him In that memorial we had stated all about our father's services and our family circumstances. After pointing out how our father had died of plague by contracting that dreadful disease in the actual performance of his duty and how the circumstances connected with his death were of the nature coming within the meaning of sections 393 and 394 of the Mysore Civil Service Regulations, we had prayed for some pecuniary help in the form of family pension or some gratuity.

But, sir, I am extremely sorry to say that although six or seven months have already elapsed, the government have not yet taken any steps to alleviate our miseries.

Now I again venture to beseech you most humbly and earnestly to bestow all your merciful consideration on this my petition and remind the Government of our case, so that, now at last the generous government of His Highness the Maharaja may condescend to bestow on us the requested charitable help.

For this act of kindness I shall ever pray for your prosperity and happiness.

I beg to remain sir,
your most obedient Servant
V. Krishnaswamy Iyengar
